This guide is provided to assist with planning and recording professional development activities. The recertification process is self-directed and supports the concept of continual improvement. The following Guiding Principles may be applied when assessing past, current or future professional development activities regarding their suitability for credit in recertification of the designation.

Guiding Principles

- $\sqrt{}$ The activity broadened or enhanced your growth as a Professional Supervisor.
- $\sqrt{}$ The activity helped to enhance or advance your career path in the role of a supervisor.
- $\sqrt{}$ The activity helped you to learn/gain insight from other professionals in the field.
- √ The activity broadened the scope of your skills beyond your day-to-day functional responsibilities as a supervisor.
- $\sqrt{}$ The activity kept you up to date with new developments related to your position.

Agreement

I also understand that I must be a CCPL holder in good standing. (Annual Fees paid)

I certify that information contained with this application is a true and valid representation of professional development activities I have engaged in during the past 3 years (36 months), since the date of first receiving my designation or my last successful recertification.

The Think Training Designation Renewal Process

Renewal Requirements

To recertify the CCPL designation, you must:

- Hold a designation. Your designation is current and all your fees are paid.
- Worked on my professional growth in two or more of the following areas. *
- Documentation should accompany each area.
 - 1. Professional Supervisory Practice
 - 2. Professional Development as a Supervisor
 - 3. Self-directed Learning
 - 4. Leadership Activities in Your Organization or Community
 - 5. New Work Projects/Initiatives
 - 6. Public Speaking
 - 7. Training/Teaching/Mentoring
- ✓ It is recommended that you treat this guide as a living document by recording activities as they are completed.
- ✓ Use only those activities that:
 - -are new to you and therefore contributed to your professional growth, and/or
 - -contributed to the learning, growth & development of fellow employees, your organization, or the community at large.

^{*} Points are not accumulated for areas of professional growth. We are looking to see continued dedication to your professional development and the CCPL designation.

Area 1: Professional Supervisory Practice

Please retain any relevant documents. Relevant documents would include your position or role statement, a current biography, resume, or curricula vitae. One of these must be attached to your Application for Renewal of Certification as an indication of your current status.

Guidelines:

In addition to the general guiding principles provided, the following may be helpful:

Identify the kind and level of position in which you have been engaged during the 36-month qualifying period for this renewal.

*Contractors and Consultants please note that you are not limited to billable hours, but may include all the time you spent marketing and preparing proposals, regardless of whether or not you gained the contract.
